Arbitration 2030: Sculpturing the New Tomorrow

In an ever-changing world, every arbitration practitioner naturally tends to think about the future of international arbitration. Before the unfortunate events of 2020, this exercise had often resulted in almost a bright and intuitive image. It is different today: we are at the crossroads with a clouded perspective on the future. More than ever, the international community is searching for the proper tools to address the stakeholders' needs better.

Our distinguished speakers will discuss emerging trends and how they influence international arbitration's further development. At the end of the discussion, we may take a glance at arbitration in 2030. In part, the speakers will address initiatives such as the Willem C. Vis International Commercial Arbitration Moot that has always posed challenging questions before sharp young practitioners expecting them to find a balanced solution to the arbitration-world problems.
